

Why I Think Abortion Is Wrong

Just the other day my wife came to me with tears in her eyes and anguish on her face. I asked what was wrong and she told me a family member had done a terrible thing. On further querying she told me that she learnt that twin fetuses were aborted. I asked whether there was a medical problem either with her or the fetuses? She said that she didn't think so but thought the reason for her decision was one of convenience. It appeared that this family member and her husband were having marital problems and finding herself pregnant, along with the responsibility of a small child, a decision was made to abort. My wife believes that they're probably where others involved in the decision making process even if only offering their opinions.

Let me now explain that I have been studying the Laws in Creation (In The Light Of Truth" The Grail Message) and have come to some basic truths, at least for myself.

Most of us are not aware of these Laws but they are the cause and effect of everything that happens. How we adjust our lives to these adamant Laws determines our fate that is either one of happiness or one of sadness. In other words what we reap is what we have sown, either here in this life or over there in the ethereal world that awaits us all after we lay aside our physical bodies. We have come to believe through our various religions, faiths and beliefs that our existence begins at physical birth. But our existence reaches far beyond one short earth life. Many of us believe in an after life, which awaits us after we leave our earthly bodies but they have a difficult time accepting the possibility of an existence before their earthly birth. Through my studies I have come to the conclusion that our existence extends not only after physical death but also before our physical birth. This quite apparent fact shows itself in the many variations of what circumstance one is born into. This explains why some are born into the lap of luxury with good health and others are born into poverty and ill health. It is for spiritual growth that the soul picks the circumstances in which it is incarnated into, for it is only spiritual growth that is really of importance to the soul. So a newborn child, after a soul has incarnated into it, often brings many things along with it. This is from its past wanderings in the material and ethereal creations.

Now back to our family member and why I think abortion is wrong. There are many souls in the ethereal world, the beyond, waiting to incarnate again into this material world to make things right, that is to make up for something left undone or done wrong in a previous life.

Conditions have to be just right for a soul to incarnate into a developing fetus, that is conditions suitable for spiritual development. The choice of parents and conditions offers the soul the opportunity to progress or regress spiritually. The decision is left to each of the souls concerned.

It is because of these conditions that our family member's decision for these two souls may never allow them the chance again to make things right, that is to experience earthly life again and the possibility to act in a different way than in a previous life. Those souls have been seriously wronged by this deed along with the disruption of the great cycle ordained by the Creator for the human spirit.

One of the primary Laws in Creation is the Law of Reciprocal Action. Simply stated: What goes around comes around! What ever issues from a person returns to the person with additional weight added by its homogeneity. Like begets like. Homogeneity is no different than when one plants a garden. One kernel of corn can bring forth many kernels of corn and so on. Now when it comes to our relative, even though she may be unaware of it, she has contributed to the disruption of the cycle ordained by the Creator for the human spirit and grievously harmed these two souls. Those that help her with her decision and those that performed the abortion also have to share in her guilt. Ignorance of the Laws of Creation in this matter or any other like matters is no excuse.

The laws that man has made in these matters are of little concern for they do not trump the great Laws of Creation! Now the question begs for an answer. Who or what will bring the justice that is deserved? Recompense will come through Creation's Laws themselves, for it is a fact that what issues from a man, whether love or hate or lack of consideration for others, whether these souls are still here on earth or in the ethereal world, the guilt for these acts will surely return! Therefore no one need to despair if here on earth injustice temporarily has the upper hand for justice will be served through the living Laws of this Creation.
THIS IS WHY I THINK ABORTION IS WRONG!
